Introduction

A Note From Joetta M. Beaver

Dear Educator,

I'm so pleased you've decided to extend your use of Pearson Learning Group's Developmental Reading Assessment (DRA) by subscribing to the DRA Online Management System, often referred to as just DRA Online. You join a community of many other educators that use DRA to identify students' reading abilities, document progress, and tailor teaching methods to drive effective reading instruction. You now have the ability to effectively manage rich assessment data through this centralized data management and reporting system.

DRA Online was created to streamline the collection and use of DRA data for both teachers and administrators in schools and throughout districts. In 2000, with the accountability pressures felt by many districts, Pearson Learning Group noted that DRA would be more effective if it extended beyond paper. While many districts tried to develop systems for managing the rich DRA data, PLG responded with DRA Online, a centralized system that captures the vital DRA information and makes it come alive in a classroom and across districts.

The primary purposes of DRA Online are to:

- Store and manage student data centrally.
- View student progress from K-8 at a glance and comprehensively.
- Easily group students by instructional needs for instruction.
- Generate an array of student progress reports for teachers, report analysts, and school-, subdistrict-, and district-level DRA Online managers.
- Disaggregate DRA data in order to meet accountability requirements of Reading First and school improvement plans.

This user's guide will provide you with the information you need to begin managing your student DRA information. It will help you more effectively use of DRA Online as an instructional resource in your classrooms, schools, and districts.

If you have any questions regarding DRA Online, please feel free to email our technical support specialists at dra.pearson@pearsonlearning.com. Thank you for using Pearson Learning Group's Developmental Reading Assessment!

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink that reads "Joetta M. Beaver". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Joetta M. Beaver, Creator of DRA

DRA and DRA Online

Developmentally Appropriate Assessments

Developmental Reading Assessment (DRA) K–8 gives educators the quick, accurate assessment they need to develop independent, successful readers. An industry standard, DRA helps educators identify every student's reading ability, document progress, and tailor teaching methods to drive effective reading instruction. DRA K–8:

- Offers reliable, validated assessment with research-based, field-tested materials. DRA K-3 continues to be proven performer since 1997; DRA 4–8 reliability studies are nearly complete. (All research is posted at www.pearsonlearning.com)
- Works with any reading program since DRA is a stand-alone assessment.
- Recognizes and adjusts to different learning abilities and testing levels, making it developmentally appropriate for all students in Grades K8.
- Provides quality authentic text. Unlike most assessments, DRA Benchmark Books match students' daily reading for more accurate assessment.
- Determines independent reading level and instructional path to help teachers guide students to the next reading level.
- Meets the Reading First assessment requirement by providing ongoing monitoring of student reading behavior.

DRA K–3

Field-tested for 10 years, DRA K–3 pinpoints students' strengths, abilities, and needs with this easy, four-part plan.

Part 1: Preview and Prediction

Part 2: Reading Conference

Part 3: Comprehension

Part 4: Teacher Analysis

DRA 4–8

This researched-based resource helps shape instructional decisions and guide ongoing student observations with step-by-step ease.

Step 1: Student Reading Survey Administered to the Whole Class

Step 2: One-on-One Reading Conference

Step 3: Independent Student Work on Comprehension

Step 4: Teacher Analysis

Book Search

Within DRA Online Management System, the Book Search helps teachers find appropriately leveled texts for their students. The Book Search includes the following Pearson Learning Group programs:

Book Treks (DRA Levels 30–60)

Creates a stimulating guided reading experience for intermediate through middle-school readers through high-interest fiction and nonfiction books.

Chatterbox (DRA Levels 1–30)

Delights young learners with pattern, rhythm, rhyme, and repetition, while drawing from their prior knowledge, putting their reading strategies into play, and inspiring them to share their post-reading ideas with others. The books' attractive illustrations, photographs, captions, and labels support the reading process, and the accessible text use vocabulary familiar to young readers.

Little Celebrations or Celebrations Grade Level Libraries (DRA Levels A–40)

Features 324 leveled nonfiction and fiction titles created by popular authors and illustrators from diverse cultural backgrounds, providing a wide range of genres and literary forms.

MCP Early Chapter Books (DRA Levels 18–44)

Helps beginning readers make the smooth transition from picture books to full-length works of nonfiction and fiction. Each of the three levels (Very First Chapters, First Chapters, and Next Chapters) contains four age-appropriate themes and feature dynamic, recurring characters.

Ready Readers® (DRA Level A–24)

Features a research-based, beginning literacy program with a built-in skills and phonics curriculum. This program features eight progressively leveled stages of decodable text with a wealth of support materials. The titles in this series feature systematic phonics and phonemic awareness instruction. Big books are available.

Program Extensions for Instruction Following *DRA

After completing the Continuum, teachers select Focus for Instruction items based on what each student needs to learn next. In DRA Online, students are grouped by these instructional needs in the Focus Group Reporting so teachers can move right on to instruction. Consider some additional information and instructional ideas on each area of the Focus for Instruction:

Book Selection/Wide Reading: Use the Book Search and programs noted above.

Sustained Reading: Use the Book Search and programs noted above.

Preview & Predicting: Little Celebrations Picture/Text & Literacy Cards

Develops oral and written language skills. Includes illustrations from the Little Celebrations books plus matching sentence strips. Literacy cards consist of complete story texts.

Oral Reading/Fluency: QuickReads® and QuickReads® Technology Edition

Provides a systematic approach to increasing fluency. Carefully written text and consistent instruction are the key elements to the success of these companion programs—QuickReads and QuickReads Technology Edition. Reluctant readers become fluent through recognizing words automatically, increasing comprehension, and gaining important background knowledge about key cross-curricular concepts (science and social studies). Includes read-along CDs for modeling fluent reading and is now also available in a Technology Edition that allows students to work independently and receive support (intervention and instant feedback) from the computer, which is powered by a speech recognition software.

Use of Strategies: Reading with Strategies

Provides endless motivational and interactive activities with poster-sized photographs and engaging texts to help students develop essential reading strategies and skills in a group setting.

Comprehension: Books Treks, Comprehension Plus, & Comprehension Power Readers

- Book Treks creates a stimulating guided reading experience for intermediate through middle-school readers through high-interest fiction and nonfiction books. With Book Treks, you can chart a course for reading independence and standardized test success for all your students.
- Comprehension Plus provides explicit instruction and practice in mastering key comprehension skills and reading strategies students need to understand written text. Students are provided with opportunities to apply and transfer the skills in a meaningful context and gain invaluable study skills.
- Comprehension Power Readers empowers students in Grades 1–6 to become confident, independent readers (by providing direct teaching of comprehension strategies) and motivates students through high-interest texts at specific reading levels. It includes ESL/ELL support, vocabulary, and guided reading questions.

What's New in DRA Online Version 2.5

The following enhancements to DRA Online Management System, version 2.5, are based upon feedback on version 2.0 software and users' developing requirements:

Registration: Report Analysts Can Register at More than One School

Report analysts can now register at the district level (for all schools) or at one or more schools within a district. Report analysts can select their institution(s) through their initial self-registration, or the DRA Online manager who registers them can specify their schools. If a report analyst registers through self-registration, DRA Online sends approval emails to all DRA Online managers at the institution(s) selected.

Book Search: New Pearson Learning Group Titles Are Available

All Pearson Learning Group books are available to all accounts.

Reports: Clustering Students into Groups

- All users can cluster students and save them as a specified group, increasing the users' reporting and instructional management capabilities. Users can run reports based upon all students in their account, one group of students, or a comparison between groups. All reports are printer friendly, appearing one group at a time in a pop-up window.
- All DRA Online managers and report analysts can filter which students or groups of students should be grouped together by selecting them from a list.
- If district-level and subdistrict-level DRA Online managers and multi-institution report analysts work in more than one institution, they can filter students based upon institutions they select.

Individual Student Reports: Now Available to Report Analysts

All individual student reports are now available to report analysts. This includes the Class List Report, Students per Reading Level, Students per Reading Stage, and Focus Group Reporting. Report analysts can run these four reports with data from the school(s) where they are registered.

Reports: Additional Scores Available on Key Reports

In the students' Summary Reports and Class List Reports, the following scores appear in parentheses next to their appropriate descriptor: Engagement, Oral Reading/Accuracy Rate, and Comprehension.

Reports: Class List Report Displays the Latest Assessment Period

The Class List Report has been revised so that it automatically displays the assessments for the latest assessment period in the current school year.

Administration: Login and Password Lookup

The ability to lookup a login and password is now available to all DRA Online managers. They can look up an individual's login or password based upon an email address, view and edit logins and passwords, and resend login and password information to users. DRA Online managers can specify whether or not report analysts can have access to this feature.

Administration: Export Student Assessment Data

A student data export capability is now available to all DRA Online managers. Student assessment information (including scores) can be exported. DRA Online managers click on a link to request an export based upon school year, assessment period, and school name. DRA emails the DRA Online manager when the export has been completed. The DRA Online manager then logs in to download the tab-delimited text file to his/her computer. DRA Online managers can specify through their administration setting whether or not a particular report analyst can access this feature.

Reports

Overview

The Reports module is accessible from two locations within DRA Online.

- 1) Main Menu
- 2) Primary Navigation Menu

Reports provide real-time information about the assessments given to a student. Report analysts can use two levels of reports: (i) class and group reports; and (ii) student reports that show data for individual students.

Sorting Report Data

To sort a column in any report, click on the column's header. An arrow will appear in the column header pointing up, indicating the data has been sorted in ascending order by the selected column. To sort the column in descending order, click the column header again. The arrow will point down, indicating that the data has been re-sorted in descending order by the selected column.

Printing Reports

DRA reports can be printed using the standard File > Print menu option. DRA reports use colors to denote different characteristics, therefore it is required that the browser has print background colors activated when printing. All reports can be displayed in printer friendly mode, which removes unnecessary colors and graphics to ensure the cleanest reporting format possible.

Reports Menu

The Reports Menu displays a list of links to reports available through DRA Online.

Clicking on the links within the Reports Menu will generate a real-time report and display the results within the browser. Please note that some reports within DRA Online are only available for completed assessments.

Student Grouping

The Student Grouping feature of the DRA Online reports allows a report analyst to create logical groups of students for reporting purposes. The groups, once created, can be applied to customize the output of any report. Click on the Student Grouping link on the Reports homepage to enter the Student Grouping console, which is the primary interface for adding, editing, viewing, and removing student groups within a report analyst's account.

Student Grouping
